

Further query into the data reveals that Olist store generates more profit by installmental payments compared to full payments. Thus more profit can be generated by encouraging customers to pay

Voucher payment type is the least performing. hence there is more need for promotion of this payment type to possibly generate more sales.

Through the data studied from the data base we have observed that the payment type indicates a correlation